POSTAL DEFICIT IS WIPED OUT

Postmaster General Announces Department Is Self-Sustaining.

$3,000,000 TURNED BACK

Money Had Been Voted by Congress to Defray Expenses of Current Year—Surplus of $1,000-000 Remains.

Washington, May 29.—The postoffice department, for the first time in nearly thirty years, is self-supporting.

Postmaster General Hitchcock announced that the department is now able to meet its entire expenses, and has accordingly returned to the secretary of the treasury $3,000,000 which was set aside from the public funds to defray the expenses of the postal service in the current fiscal year. Not only is the service now self-suustaining, but there is at present, according to the postmaster general's announcement, a postal surplus of more than $1,000,000. The postmaster general expects that this surplus will be greater for the entire year unless extraordinary expenses occur in the next month.

The wiping out of the postal deficit within two years is regarded by President Taft as one of the most satisfactory accomplishments of his administration. When the Taft administration entered upon its life it inherited a deficit of more than $17,500,000, the largest in the history of the department.

The postmaster general contends that the deficit has been wiped out, not by curtailing postal facilities, as some of his critics have contended, but by introducing business methods in the department.

CUTS THROAT WITH KNIFE

Jerome Nichols, Accused of White Slave Traffic, Attempts Suicide.

Kalamazoo, Mich., May 29.—Slight hope is entertained for the recovery of Jerome Nichols, a former prominent business man of Battle Creek, who slashed his throat with a knife while in the office of Chief of Police Allen.

Nichols was arrested as a suspect, officers claiming that he has been enticing girls away from home for immoral purposes. It is declared that he has worked in league with a Chicago white slave gang and that he has made a fortune in his business. Nichols just before being arrested was accompanying an eighteen-year-old girl to an office where he said he conducted a real estate business. Officers declare that this office has been maintained only as a disguise. It was while the girl was being questioned by the police chief in another room that Nichols cut his throat.

The father, oldest son, and baby were lost. The mother and two children were saved by the ferrymen.

Business Section Wiped Out.

North Webster, Ind., May 29.—Fire wiped out the business section of this town with a loss of between $15,000 and $20,000. The fire started in the Garber general store and spread so rapidly the entire town would have been destroyed had not Warsaw responded to an appeal for help. Among the buildings destroyed were Garber's general store, the Warner livery, Jenkins' stable, the Stronbeck hardware store and the Anderson cafe.

Aviator Killed in Russia.

St. Petersburg, May 29.—The British aviator, Smith, flying in a Sommer machine during an aeroplane competition here, fell from a height of 125 feet and was killed.

BOAT TIPS-TWO DEAD

Lansing, Mich., May 29.—Fred Frank, aged 18, and Lorenzo Seibel, aged 15, both of Lansing, were drowned in Grand River late yesterday afternoon when their boat overturned. Neither could swim.

The two boys with a brother of one of them went in bathing and were playing about with an old boat. When it overturned suddenly the boy on the bank ran for help and the bodies were recovered in a short time, but efforts to revive them were fruitless.

HEATED RAILS REPORTED TO BE CAUSE OF WRECK

Saginaw, Mich., May 29.—Sunwarped rails were responsible for the derailment of two cars of a C., H. & D. train near Erie early Sunday afternoon. A parlor car and buffet car left the rails. A porter and one other employe were slightly bruised. In official reports the train crew said the wreck was due to rail which buckled in the intense heat.

ONE KILLED AND TWO INJURED BY AUTOMOBILE

Bowling Green, Ohio, May 29.—While going at high speed a touring car plunged over an embankment near Bradner today, killing one occupant and injuring two others, one probably fatally.

The machine took fire, and Albert Ebersole, of Acadia, was burned to a crisp.

Willis Hakes, of Fostoria, extricated himself from the wreckage and rescued Henry Ries, also of Fostoria, but not until the latter had suffered probably fatal injuries.

THINKS CHURCH IS HOME AND HE RETIRES

A new feature seems to have developed in regard to the cause of the student's predicament as found early Saturday morning by Officer Pierce when he was confronted by the man dressed in a suit of underclothing and with the request for a coat and a pair of shoes. It seems that his recollection of the happenings, during the evening before, that had brought him to the position in which the policeman found him were decidedly hazy and that the story which he gave out about being robbed of his clothing was noticeably separated from the story according to later developments of what actually happened.

As the latest story goes the effect of the visitor's calls at various saloons during the early part of the evening confused him so badly that he eventually forgot whether he was in Ypsilanti or at his room in Ann Arbor and it developes that instead of taking a nap on the carnival grounds and being robbed of his clothes, he had found a secluded corner on the porch of the Episcopal church and evidently concluding that he was at home he proceeded to disrobe and retire. It all worked out well until the chill night air got in its work and roused him up with chattering teeth. Being unable to see any of his clothing around him on account of the darkness and not recalling what he had done to bring him into such a predicament, he wandered toward the lighted section of the street in search of help.

He reached home all right during the night and Saturday he returned to ask aid from the local police department in recovering the lost clothing together with a watch and money that chanced to be in the pockets. The police had no clue to work on however and were unable to promise him much assistance until later when word came from the Huron Mills that a suit of clothing had been found by Mr. Reinhart on the sidewalk in front of the Episcopal church Saturday morning when he was on his way to work. Upon further inquiry the clothing was found to answer the description left by the student and he was a happy chap when he was notified of the finding.

He gave his name as Peau and claimed membership in a prominent U. of M. fraternity. He seemed unable to verify any story of the affair further than that he was sure that at about 1 a. m. he was pretty thinly clad and pretty cold and that he was mighty glad to get his hands once more on the clothing that he believed stolen.

OLD TIME GOSPEL NEEDED NOW SAYS REV. CREIGHTON

Rev. Creighton delivered a strong sermon at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning. His text was from I Cor., 15:3, For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures, that he was buried, and that he hath been raised, on the third day, according to the Scripture.

"There are two ways of getting back and finding out what was the content of the preaching of early disciples concerning Christ," he said. "We may look into the book of the Acts and learn from that book what the apostles said when they went into the world to preach the gospel. Or in the second place we may limit ourselves to the writings of the apostle Paul and learn from his books what he preached and how he estimated the content of the evangel which he heralded to the world.

"Now this distinguishes the christian religion from all other forms of so-called religion. The gospel of Christ is first of all a gospel of salvation. The christian religion is not primarily a revelation although it is that. It is first of all a religion of redemption. These days we hate the word dogma and think that when we have described a doctrine as dogmatic we have proved its falsity. We are gradually getting away from this idea of dogma, however, and we are finding out that the truths of nature are as dogmatic as the truths of revelation. And in the fundamental principles of the religion of Jesus Christ there cannot help but be the positive statements of the truth, just as in natural science there are certain axiomatic truths which can only be stated dagmatically or positively.

"Take up the new testament and run casually through its pages and the first thing that strikes you is the absolute conviction that the thought of the writers was that Jesus was preeminently a savior by suffering and death. Of course it is only natural that the disciples should not fully comprehend the whole plan of redemption for such a plan had never been propounded to the human mind before, but in so far as they are able to look into the mystery and certainly after they had seen the ressurection andafter theybegan to preach the evangel the whole truth broke upon them that God was in Christ reconciling the world to himself. The theme of the new testament is a crucified Lord. Of course men may go to the new testament and find many other subsidiary things. One may go and find laws that should govern a socialistic society. Some may find texts to bolster up their pet theory or scheme. Some have said that the theme of the new testament is the healing which Jesus gave to those who were sick. But if we are not mistaken, the broad theme of the new testament is to tell what Jesus did for our sins and that he rose for our justification. And the man who opens his new testament and does not find that there running through every parable and miracle and episode misses the great and underlying current of the book.

"The thing that is distressing mankind today as it has in all days gone by is the one thing for which Jesus came to save us from—sin. Many persons are studying and arguing about the theory of the atonement as it is called They are spending their energy in trying to find out from the point of view of God and of man what is the philosophy of the death of Christ. It is a profitable study for a well matured Christian to take up if he be laid aside by sickness and unable to have much contact with the world. Or it might be a profitable study for some theological professor to enter into in a course of lectures during the winter season when the mind is able to balance accurately conflicting theories and philosophies, but for us who are of the day it is unimportant and unprofitable to waste our time over things which the angels desire to know and don't know. The most conclusive argument of the fact of redemption is a redeemed life. The most powerful and convincing apologetic for religion is a religios man or woman.

"Some are telling us that the expressions in the hymn 'there is a fountain filled with blood drawn from Immanuels veins and sinners plunged beneath that flood lose all their guilty stains' and crude but if the great apostle Paul were to come into a church and hear a devout congregation singing the hymn he would know exactly what we meant. It is not always a pleasant thing for us to be assured that sin is the chief cause of our distress and failures. We would like to think otherwise and many of us have succeeded in doing so. Holy contemplations are fine things and we all wish we were capable of more of them, but we wince at the blunt statements of the gospel, and we like to deceive our souls by denying certain things Sin is one thing that the world practically denies. Most people pass by that part of the gospel according to John where it says that the man who says he has no sin is a liar and the truth is not in him. Such statement as the wages of sin is death, and the soul that sinneth it shall die, these and a hundred others' statements are passed over lightly

"But, my friends, the very hope of the preaching of the gospel of Christ is that we can start out with the divine statement that Christ came to die for the sin of the race. The atonement is the fundamental message of the evangel,

"I can see Paul journeying from Jerusalem and preaching to all the lands in Asia Minor, righteousness, temperance, judgment, and this is the gospel the world needs today—what we need."

OUR SOLDIER DEAD AND CEMETERIES WHERE THEY LIE

GENERAL SHERIDAN'S MONUMENT IN ARLINGTON.

In the palmy days of democratic Athens the bones of every citizen who perished in the service of his country were brought home to be buried in the Ceramicus. A day was appointed in the winter, when military operations were suspended, for the funeral. One of the noblest orations of antiquity—that attrabuted by Thucydides to Perciles—was delivered on such an occasion.

Modern nations build stately mausoleums for their great generals, but are usually content to allot only the hasty trench or ditch to the common soldier. The bones of British soldiers are scattered the world around.

To this rule of indifference as to the final resting place of obscure heroes the United States forms a shining and honorable exception. There are today eighty-four national cemeteries, which contained on June 30, 1909, the graves of 359,285 American soldiers and sailors.

The national cemeteries are mainly a result of the civil war. In September, 1861, the secretary of war by general order directed accurate and permanent records to be kept of deceased soldiers and their places of burial. The work was assigned to the quartermaster general's department. That department already had charge of the burial of officers and soldiers, but its care had ordinarily ended with the drifting smoke of the guns that were discharged over their graves.

By act of July 17, 1862, congress empowered the president to purchase cemetery grounds to be used for the burial of "soldiers who shall die in the service of their country." Such was the intensity of the great war that for some time no action was taken under the law.

Following the battle of Gettysburg Governor Curtin of Pennsylvania inaugurated a movement whereby several states purchased seventeen acres of ground embracing the center of the Union line and caused to be disinterred and reburied there the bodies of the soldiers who had been buried outside this area. The cemetery was dedicated by Lincoln, Nov. 19, 1863, in that perfect tribute to the "honored dead" who there "gave the last full measure of devotion." The cemetery was subsequently taken over by the nation.

In the summer of 1865 a force of men under Captain James Moore was sent to Andersonville to inclose the grounds and provide headboards for each grave. They were able to identify 12,461 of the graves, leaving only 451 "unknown."

The eighty-four national cemeteries are divided according to importance into twenty-six first class, twenty second class, sixteen third class and twenty-two fourth class cemeteries. Those in the first class include Arlington, Andersonville, Antietam, Chalmette, Chattanooga, Nashville, Corinth, Gettysburg, Fredericksburg, Jefferson Barracks, Shiloh and Vicksburg.

In the number of interments that at Arlington stands first, with 21,106. That at Vicksburg is a rather close second, with 16,892. The Nashville cemetery is third, with 16,691.

Arlington, as is generally known, formerly belonged to the wife of General Robert E. Lee. Mrs. Lee was a daughter of George Washington Parke Custis, who was a grandson of Martha Washington. The stately mansion, whose classic columns have been seen by every visitor to Washington city, was inherited by her, and at the outbreak of the civil war it was the Lee home. Lee, then a colonel in the United States army, wrote his resignation there April 20, 1861. Two days later he quitted his beautiful home forever to accept command of the military forces of his state.

Overlooking as it does the Potomac and the capital, a more beautiful spot could scarcely be imagined. Magnificent old oaks shade its glades and knolls, and art has perfected what nature left undone. The cemetery contains the tombs of Logan, Sheridan, Lawton and other noted generals.

One of the most interesting national cemeteries is that on Custer's battle field in Montana. The story of how the dashing yellow haired young major general and every man of five companies of the Seventh cavalry lost their lives in battle with the Sioux, June 25, 1876, is known to every one. The smallest national cemetery is that at Ball's Bluff, Va. It is on the site of the battlefield of that name, fought in 1861. It is only fifty feet square and is situated on a large bluff overlooking the upper Potomac. It contains the graves of one known and twenty-four unknown soldiers.

RESORTER SHOT BY UNKNOWN MAN; MAKES HIS ESCAPE

Pontiac, Mich., May 29.—While sitting beside his wife on the shores of Dollar lake Sunday afternoon Wm. Tate, of 1342 Medbury avenue, Detroit, was shot through the left shoulder by an unidentified man, who escaped. Tate is in the Oakland County hospital, while officers are scouring the country for trace of a tall, slim man wearing a gray coat and carrying a Winchester rifle.

About 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, while Mr. and Mrs. Tate were sitting on the shore of the lake they noticed a man on the opposite shore across a narrow stretch of water. He carried a rifle. Without warning he suddenly raised it and fired, the ball striking the ground between Mr. Tate and his wife. Tate yelled across to the man, "Look out, there's somebody over here."

"Yes," answered the man according to the wife's story told to Prosecutor Pelton.

"I see there is somebody there." Then he fired again, this time the ball passing through Tate's left side just above the heart and below the shoulder. Tate sprang to his feet and rushed to the boat in the water in front of them ,where his shotgun lay, and picking it up fired twice at the man.

It is not thought that his shots took effect.

Dr. Guillot was visiting at the Falnders farm nearby and after summoning officers, rushed the injured man to a hospital. It is thought his wound will not prove serious.

AEROPLANE RACE PARIS TO TURIN

Petit Journal's Great Contest Starts at French Capital.

TWELVE AIRMEN ARE ENTERED

Garros Is First to Get Away, Followed Closely by Conneau—Henry Weyman Is Only American Contestant.

Paris, May 29. — Nothing equalling the Petit Journal's Paris-Rome-Turin aeroplane contest for a prize of $100,000, which started here has yet been seen.

Within fifteen minutes from the time of the start ten of the competitors got away and within a hour twelve had started on the 1,300 mile flight. Unlike all previous competitions starts were allowed as soon after 6 a. m. as the competitors liked. The understanding was that the first to arrive at Nice would win the first stage money.

Garros was the first away, determined to offset the bad luck he had in the Paris to Madrid contest. Beaumont Conneau, the French navy student, started under the name of Andre Beaumont, was the second to start.

Henry Weyman, the only American in the race, started at 6:08, flying the stars and stripes. His rapid Nieuport machine left far behind Freey's Morane, though Freey got away shortly before Weyman. Weyman came down at Beford, fifty miles from the start, because he was short of gasoline. He expects to start again.

All the veteran airmen were present, among them Bleriot, Farman and Latahm. It was noticable, however, that the tempting prizes had failed to attract them from the more profitable field of commercial aviation.

Beaumont Conneau arrived at Avignon, 403 miles from the start, at 6:47 p. m. Garros followed an hour later and both spent the night there. Molla arrived at Dijon at 6:51 and Freey reached there at 7:11.

The cantata is entitled, "Saint Mary Magdalene." The music is at once elegant and eloquent. Mrs. Gray will sustain the recitatives. Miss Strong will be at the organ and Miss Lowden at the piano.

The soloist for this concert will be Edwin Hughes, pianist, who was for some years assistant to Leschetizki in Vienna. A LOCAL APPLICATION OF THE GOLDEN RULE.

If we were all to do unto others as we would that they should do unto us, we would not need any law,—national, state or local,—or any police officers, or any standing army, or any navy or any of the other expensive machinery which our so-called 20th century civilization necessitates for the protection of ourselves from ourselves.

But there is a local application of the Golden Rule which we think we can and will apply for our own protection and in order to stop the increasing criticism of the lax enforcement of our quarantine regulations against infectious diseases, and the forgetfulness of parents in permitting children having the whooping cough, mumps, measles, or any other infectious disease to expose those who have them not and want them not.

It is one of the foolish old-lady-who-lives-in-the-shoe ideas that all children will sometime have to have all of these infectious children's diseases and consequently the sooner they have them (and recover if possible) the better for the children and for their parents. We do not believe that disease adds to the longevity of anybody and the more sickness any child can escape we believe the better are their chances to live long and happily.

When you permit your children who have some contagious disease to expose the child of someone else, you are doing them a possible injury at all times and probably a positive injury, the seriousness of which you cannot possibly contemplate. Your child may be strong enough not to succumb to the disease—theirs may not. You may be able to pay the doctor's bill and the nurse's bill for caring for a sick child—they may not. You may have the leisure and the ability to provide an environment about your child which will reduce the ravages of the disease to the minimum—they may not. And the wrong to the public is just as many times as great as the wrong to the individual as the possibility based upon population is multiplied for the possible spread of the disease.

Can't you apply the Golden Rule on this proposition, each and all, without waiting for Sunday to commence?

STORY OF ORIGIN OF MEMORIAL DAY.

German Soldier Whose Name Is Forgotten First Suggested Decorating Graves of Comrades.

To an unknown German, a one time resident of Cincinnati and a veteran of the civil war, belongs the primary credit of suggesting a national Memorial day; to General John A. Logan, soldier-statesman and third commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, and to Norton P. Chipman, adjutant general of the national organization, belongs the honor of promulgating the first order.

In the original orders issued from the Grand Army headquarters by General Logan, May 30 was designated as what has since been termed Memorial day. The order was issued early in May, 1868, and since that time May 30 has become a holiday and is observed by every Grand Army post in the Union.

General Logan's order, setting May 30 as Memorial day, was eagerly carried out, and the first observance of the day was widespread.

General Logan was elected commander in chief at an encampment held in Philadelphia in January, 1868. He established headquarters in Washington.

Early in May of that year Adjutant General Chipman received a letter from a member of a Cincinnati post in which the first suggestion for Memorial day was made. General Chipman, who is living in California, does not remember the name of the writer who described himself as a German who had served as a private in the Union army. This soldier wrote that in his native country it was a custom of the people to assem[illegible] in the spring and scatter flowers on the graves of the dead.

"Would it not be a good idea to have the Grand Army of the Republic inaugurate such an idea and set aside a day in spring in memory of the Union dead?" he wrote.

General Chipman regarded the suggestion most favorably, and accordingly he drew up a rough draft of a general order carrying the suggestion into effect. This he laid before General Logan, who heartily approved of the idea.

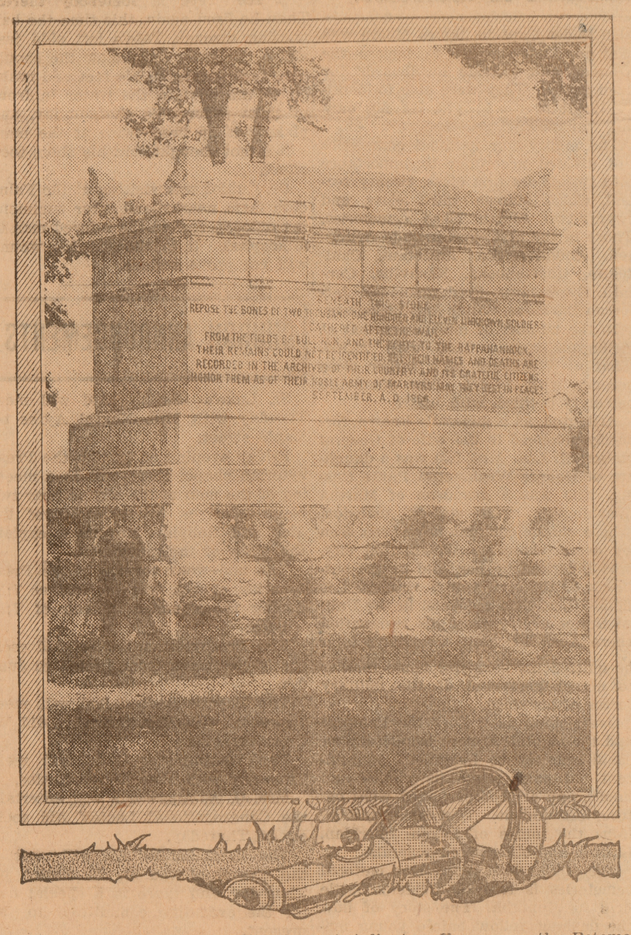
General Logan suggested that May 30 be made the date for the observance of Memorial day, his idea being that at that date spring flowers could be procured in profusion, even in the most northern states and in New England. There were several conferences on the subject between General Logan and General Chipman.

It is related that General Logan was so enthused with the idea of a general Memorial day that he added several paragraphs to the draft of the order drawn by General Chipman, which in the history of the Grand Army of the Republic is known as general order No. 11.

At first the wisdom of General Logan's order was doubted by many persons, who urged as an argument that the setting aside of a Memorial day would unnecessarily keep alive memories of the war and foster enmities. However, the objections were not strong enough, and the first Memorial day was generally observed, even by posts that had been instituted in the south.

In Washington the first Memorial day was observed by appropriate services in Arlington cemetery. Feeling still ran high at the capital then, but a great crowd went to Arlington. General James A. Garfield, who later became president, was the orator of the day. President Johnson was present, and others who attended the ceremonies included General Grant, General W. S. Hancock, General O. O. Howard and General Elkin.

MONUMENT TO THE UNKNOWN SOLDIER DEAD.



IN the beautiful National cemetery at Arlington, Va., across the Potomac from Washington, the monument to the unknown dead is one of the most striking reminders of the pathos of war. This memorial, erected by the government in 1866, bears the following inscription, which tells its own pathetic story:

"Beneath this stone repose the remains of 2,111 unknown soldiers gathered after the war from the fields of Bull Run and the route to the Rappahannock. Their remains could not be identified, but their names and deaths are recorded in the archives of their country, and its grateful citizens honor them as of their noble army of martyrs. May they rest in peace! September, A. D. 1866."

SEVENTY-FIVE ATTEND CLOSING DAY PICNIC AT FOWLER SCHOOL

The Fowler school has closed for the year. Seventy-five attended the picnic which was given Friday. A program by the pupils took place in the afternoon. The teacher, Miss M. Belle Freeman, was presented with a berry spoon. Victor Huston, Rieka Richter and Earl Gregory have passed into the eighth grade. Miss Freeman will return for next year.

SPLENDID MUSICAL PROGRAM OF CLOSING OF RAWSONVILLE SCHOOL

The Rawsonville school, of which Miss Gertrude Keedle has been the successful teacher for two years, closed Friday with suitable exercises. The excellent singing was especially remarked. There was a large attendance of parents and patrons, by whom Miss Keedle's work is much appreciated. Ice cream and cake were served at the close. The absence through her accident Thursday of Zelma Waters was a loss to the program, as she was to have taken a prominent part in the exercises.

A DEAD STOMACH

Of What Use is it to Anyone?

Thousands! yes hundreds of thousands of people throughout America are murdering their own stomach, the best friend they have, and in their sublime ignorance they think they are putting aside the laws of nature.

This is no sensational statement; it is a startling fact, the truth of which any honorable physician will not deny.

These thousands of people are swallowing daily large quantities of pepsin and other strong digesters, made especially to digest the food in the stomach without any aid at all from the digestive membrane of the stomach.

In other words they are taking from the stomach the work that nature intended it should do, and are also refusing it the only chance for exercise it has. MI-O-NA stomach tablets relieve distressed stomach in five minutes. Taken regularly for a few weeks they build up the stomach and make it strong enough to digest its own food. Then indigestion, belching, sour stomach, headache and stomach misery go.

MI-O-NA stomach tablets are sold by Duane Spalsbury at 50 cents a large box, and are guaranteed to cure all stomach distress or money back.

NASAL CATARRH

Mrs. E. Karberg Says it is Easy to Get Rid of

"A bad case of catarrh was cured for me by the use of HYOMEI. The trouble affected my head, nose and eyes, and was very annoying and disagreeable, and the cure from the use of HYOMEI, was very gratifying. HYOMEI has from me a strong recommend and endorsement."—Mrs. E. Karbery, 213 Kingsley St., Ann Arbor Mich., Nov. 16, 1908.

HYOMEI (pronounced High-o-me) cures catarrh, because it gets where the germs are, and destroys them. It is made of Australian eucalyptus, mixed with other healing antiseptics. When you breathe over the irritated membrane, it gives relief in two minutes.

Used regularly for a few weeks it will build up and heal the germ infested membrane and drive out catarrh.

If you own a small Hyomei pocket inhaler, you can get a bottle of HYOMEI at druggists everywhere, or at Duane Spalsbury's for only 50 cents. If you do not own a Hyomei inhaler, ask for a complete outfit, the price is $1.00. It is guaranteed to cure catarrh, coughs, colds, croup or sore throat, or money back.

Facts About Motherhood

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at the time of child-birth, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when the strain is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

It isn't as though the experience came upon them unawares. They have ample time in which to prepare, but they, for the most part, trust to chance and pay the penalty.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy, and strong.

Any woman who would like special advice in regard to this matter is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. Her letter will be held in strict confidence.

Do Your Cooking in the Cool

A hot kitchen is little better than a prison in summer. But the range is there, so all the cooking and the washing must be done there, too.

What a relief it would be to move the range where you pleased. You can do this with a New Perfection Oil Cook-stove—cook your dinner out on the porch, if you like. It is the only range that is really portable—that works equally well in any place. There are no connections to be made, as in a gas range; no wiring, as with an electric stove; no sooty flues and ash-filled grates, as with coal or wood.

The long, enameled chimneys carry the heat directly up to saucepans, oven or boiler; you get full value from your fuel, without waste.

A Rare Prize.

The securing of the pelt of a black fox is of such interest among trappers and buyers of fur that the event is widely heralded throughout the trade, but it is rare indeed that one of the valuable animals is seen alive in captivity, yet a Farmington man has the distinction of having a live black fox in his possession. The animal was captured by Stanley Savage of Avon, who has a line of traps set in the vicinity of Mount Blue. The animal was not injured materially by the steel trap in which he was caught and Savage, after a lively tussle, succeeded in putting a collar around the fox's neck and attached a strong chain to it. He then took the animal to his home, where he has him confined in a firmly built cage.—Kennebec Journal.

G. A. R. SERVICES HELD AT THE M. E. CHURCH

The Signal Corps escorted the G. A. R. to the Methodist church Sunday morning and stood in line while the G. A. R. passed through. They, together with the W. R. C., filled one section of the auditorium. Rev. H. A. Leeson preached from the text from Daniel, "Behold, I see four men walking in the midst of the fire, and the form of the fourth is likeunto the Son of God." After sketching the events of the Civil War, Mr. Leeson dwelt upon the providential aspects of Lincoln's and Grant's connection with the war.

IES OF INJURIES

Ann Arbor, May 29.—Michael Maulbetsch, the Salem farmer who was so badly injured in a runaway May 17 in Ann Arbor, died at 5:20 Friday evening at the U. of M. hospital, where he had lain since the accident occurred. Mr. Maulbetsch had lived in Salem 35 years. He is survived by a widow, one daughter, Mrs. Mary M. Osborne, of Worden, and three sons, Byron, George and William C., of Ann Arbor, three grandchildren, and one brother, John, of Ann Arbor. Mr. Maulbetsch was born in Germany 73 years ago. The funeral occurred at 2 o'clock Sunday at the residence and at 3 o'clock at St. John's church in Northfield. Rev. Mr. Heidel officiated and the interment was in St. John's cemetery.

MEMORIAL DAY WILL BE QUIETLY OBSERVED IN YPSI

The prospects are that Memorial Day will be very quietly celebrated in Ypsilanti tomorrow. The G. A. R., round whom the activities of this day generally center, will observe the occasion simply among themselves. At noon the W. R. C. will serve the G. A. R. and families a lunch at the hall, after which they will go through with their beautiful and always impressive ritual. In view of the heavy evpense which the city has assumed in caring for the encampment, the G. A. R. did not care to ask even for carriages to go to Highland, so in the afternoon a committee only from among their number will go to the cemetery and decorate the graves. Flowers will be especially appreciated this year.

The Cleary College team will be out of the city winning a baseball game from the Dexter people. The high school people and the alumni will play in Prospect Park. The Signal Corps will spend the day in maneuvers on the north river road, while the Boy Scouts will have the best time of any people in the city undoubtedly, spending the day at Base Lake.

THROW OUT THE LINE

Give the Kidneys Help and Many Ypsilanti People Will Be Happier.

"Throw Out the Life Line"—
The kidneys need help.
They're overworked—can't get the poison filtered out of the blood.
They're getting worse every minute.
Will you help them?

Doan's Kidney Pills have brought thousands of kidney sufferers back from the verge of despair.

Mrs. Catherine McCullough, 10 E. Congress St., Ypsilanti, Mich., says: "I was often troubled by pains in my shoulders and could hardly walk. My kidneys were badly disordered and the kidney secretions were unnatural. Last winter I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and was led to procure a supply at Weinmann-Matthews Co.'s Drug Store. I began their use and in a short time felt so much better that I continued taking them until the pain and lameness in my back disappeared and my kidneys were restored to their normal condition. I am now eighty-one years of age and I attribute my good health to the use of Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

CEMETARY IS NAMED, EXERCISES HELD BY THE D. A. R. SUNDAY

It was agreed at the last meeting of the Washtenaw Historical society held at Saline to call the burying ground at Carpenter's Corners the "Emily Whittemore Pioneer Park Cemetery" and here on Sunday afternoon, May 28, appropriate exercises were conducted by the Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti Chapters of the D. A. R. About thirty people were present. The exercises opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. Wilkinson of Ann Arbor. Miss Carlton of Ann Arbor gave a brief account of the work done upon this old cemetery by the D. A. R. The first person to be buried here was Miss Eily Whittemore, after whom the place has been named and whose father gave the ground for mortuary purposes.

The address of the afternoon was given by S. W. Beakes, also of Ann Arbor. He gave a history of Revolutionary beginnings which was very interesting. He stated that white settlers came in 1809 to Ypsilanti, which was the first place in Washtenaw county to be settled.

The Washtenaw Club of Boys sang several selections and recited their creed.

MILD, GENTLE LAXATIVE FOR WOMEN GIVEN FREE

So many of the ills of women are due to habitual constipation, probably because of their false modesty on the subject, that their attention cannot be too strongly called to the importance of keeping the bowels open. It is always important to do that, regardless of the sex, but it is especially important in women.

From the time the girl begins to menstruate until menstruation ceases she has always vastly better prospects of coming through healthy if she watches her bowel movements. If you find yourself constipated, with bad breath, pimply complexion, headaches, belching gas and other symptoms of indigestion and constipation, take a small dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a woman's favorite laxative. You will find that you can do away with salts, strong cathartics, etc., which are entirely unsuited to woman's requirements.

Mrs. Katherine Haberstroh of McKees Rocks, Pa., and Mrs. A. E. Herrick of Wheeler, Mich., who was almost paralyzed in her stomach and bowels, are now cured by the use of this remedy. A free sample bottle can be obtained by addressing Dr. Caldwell, and after you are convinced of its merits buy it of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 541 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.
